COMPLETE CAIRNGORMS (Grade 2)

We explore Britain's most natural landscape: the Great Forest of Caledon with its noble pines, the mighty Cairngorms with their tundra flora, the expansive heather moors. The habitats are rich - you experience the full variety of this unique mountain area.

Arrive on 7th August 2011. Try to aim for between 5 & 7pm so that you will have time to settle in and meet the other members of the group before dinner at about 7.30pm.

Day 1: This holiday wouldn't be complete without an ascent of Cairngorm. The forces of nature have created numerous corries and hanging valleys. Our route seeks out many of these features to give a day of unending variety and interest.

Day 2: Although Ben Macdui is our 2nd highest, and a 4000 ft peak 'to boot', it is by no means the hardest. We make a circuit taking in the most spectacular rock & glacial scenery of the Northern Cairngorms: the famous Lairig Ghru & the Loch A'an Basin.

Day 3: The prominent peak of Carn Elrig is our target. You won't find a better positioned summit to view the Northern Cairngorms - the panorama is unsurpassed: native pine forest stretching to the north, mighty peaks to the south.

Day 4: This is a day off for all of us from breakfast onwards. You'll have the opportunity to join another activity; hire a bike to explore the area under a different mode of transport; travel up to Inverness for a change of scenery; or just mellow out and relax. We'll meet up again for a fabulous meal at our local restaurant, Anderson's a few doors

Day 5: We make a traverse through Caledonian pines from Glenmore, past crofting communities, lochs and mountain backdrops of the RSPB's Abernethy Forest Reserve to arrive back at Fraoch Lodge, Boat of Garten.

Day 6: Glen Feshie is regarded by many as the most beautiful in the area. After walking its length we climb high to Carn Dearg Mor and fantastic high level views back down into its upper reaches.

Depart 14th August 2011 after breakfast

Price: as per website (6 days, 7 nights)
fully inclusive of: all guiding or instruction, accommodation at Fraoch Lodge, full board, transport, and transfers to Aviemore Station or Inverness airport* if required.

GRADING INFORMATION

The grading of each holiday is based on the average length of the day for that holiday. The time takes an accurate account of the distance and amount of ascent & descent. Additional time is also included for breaks. These calculations have then been tempered by walking the routes with any necessary adjustments having then been made to the grading. For the easier grade holidays (grades 1 & 2) the day length has been adjusted to give a slower pace more suited to the tempo of the holiday.

Grade 2: suitable for anyone with good walking fitness who takes regular exercise. The hill walking in these holidays is similar to walking the Lake District Fells. At times we may encounter steep ascents & descents over rough terrain with around 6 - 7 hrs walking at a fairly relaxed pace. The steeper gradients may total up to 600m of ascent in a day.

It's important for your own and the rest of the group's enjoyment, that you choose the right holiday for your ability. If you are in any doubt to the suitability of a particular holiday please don't hesitate to give Andrew a ring on 01479 831 331 so we can better advise you.

Since time is often given over to photography and due to the vagaries of the mountain environment the average day length should only be regarded as an estimate.

ABOUT US

Established in 1998, we're an owner-run provider of guided walking holidays and mountain courses in the Highlands of Scotland. We firmly believe 'the day' doesn't finish with the walk; we don't hand you over to someone else, you arrive back to 'Cake O'Clock' - a welcoming mug of tea and some of Rebecca's home baking.

Andrew's knowledge of the mountain environment is extensive. Having a background in geology and being interested in natural history and conservation from an early age, he's a mine of information. The fine food and relaxed atmosphere mean that access to some of the wildest places in Britain is a safe, fun and exhilarating experience.

We are always on hand to ensure your stay exceeds expectations and are very proud of all the great testimonials we receive. Come and enjoy an adventure with us.

YOUR HOSTS

Both Andrew and Rebecca have travelled widely. Andrew's mountaineering experience of 15 years is complemented by a number of independent expeditions to such places as the Karakoram mountains of Pakistan, the Indian Himalaya, the Alps, Mount Kenya and the High Atlas of Morocco.

Rebecca has trekked extensively in New Zealand and Australia. She has worked in Taiwan and travelled throughout Asia. She brings her knowledge of global cuisines to the preparation of her highly regarded and creative menus.

FRAOCH LODGE - YOUR ACCOMMODATION

Our Highland base is Fraoch Lodge. The Lodge provides a very comfortable dining room with wood burning stove & a separate lounge with open fire.

Single guests generally share a twin room with a member of the same sex.

OUR RESPONSIBLE POLICY

On all our holidays we have a 'leave nothing, take only photographs' policy. Our guides are asked to explain and encourage this policy. For example, leaving an apple core or feeding a seagull on a mountain summit may seem innocuous but it detracts from the 'untouched wilderness' aspect and can have a detrimental knock-on effect on the indigenous wildlife. Our guides are there for your safety & enjoyment & to informally share their knowledge of the mountain environment - from its geological beginnings through to contemporary land management and its associated politics.

We compost all biodegradable We compost all biodegradable waste in 3 large compost heaps built from scrap wood and use this to fertilise the garden, especially our vegetable patch. We are in the process of reorganising our plot with the help of volunteers on the WWOOF scheme, so we can supply more fruit and vegetables from the garden.

The lodge is mainly heated by radiators fed from a biomass boiler fueled by Scottish wood pellets.

We have been awarded Gold in the Green Tourism Business Award Scheme.

TRAVEL TO THE HIGHLANDS

If you are intending to fly you can find all options on the Inverness airport web site at www.hial.co.uk Alternatively you could take the train to Aviemore. Direct services run from London with GNER & Scotrail (the sleeper).

Mountain Innovations is offering a £15 GREEN TRAVEL DISCOUNT This applies to those guests travelling to and from the designated base/pick-up point solely by public transport (train, bus or boat).
